

The Economic Impact of Construction in the United States and Wisconsin

Economic Impact of Construction:

- U.S. gross domestic product (GDP)—the value of all goods and services produced in the country—totaled $19.5 trillion in 2017; construction contributed $781 billion (4.0%). In Wisconsin, construction contributed $13.0 billion (4.0%) of the state's GDP of $321.4 billion, the same as the industry's 4.0% share of U.S. GDP.
- Construction wages and salaries in 2017 totaled $436 billion in the United States, including including $7.3 billion in Wisconsin.

Nonresidential Construction Spending:

- Nonresidential spending in the U.S. totaled $714 billion in 2017 ($438 billion private, $277 billion public).
- Private nonresidential spending in Wisconsin totaled $3.9 billion in 2017. State and local spending totaled $5.2 billion.
- Nonresidential starts in Wisconsin totaled $19.5 billion in 2018 and $9.9 billion in 2017, according to ConstructConnect.

Construction Employment (Seasonally Adjusted):

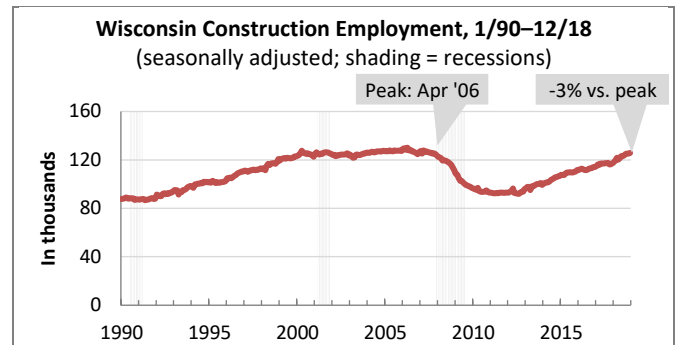

- Construction (residential + nonresidential) employed 7.3 million workers in December 2018, an increase of 282,000 (4.0%) from December 2017, but 4.8% less than in April 2006, when U.S. construction employment peaked.
- Construction employment in Wisconsin in December 2018 totaled 125,800, an increase of 7.2% from December 2017, but 3% less than the state's peak in April 2006.
- Construction unemployment is near a series low. In AGC's 2019 Hiring and Business Outlook Survey, 78% of firms in the U.S. and 78% in Wisconsin reported difficulty filling salaried and hourly craft worker positions.

Construction Industry Pay:

- In 2017, pay for all construction industry employees in the U.S. averaged $60,700, 10% more than the average (mean) for all private-sector employees. Pay for construction industry employees in Wisconsin was $60,100 in 2017, 27% more than the state average for all private-sector employees.
- The five most numerous construction occupations in Wisconsin had higher median pay than the median for all employees in the state. (Half of workers earn more than the median; half earn less.)

Small Business:

- The United States had 669,000 construction firms in 2015, of which 92% were small (1 to 19 employees). Wisconsin had 13,300 construction firms in 2015, of which 93% were small.
